ATLANTA BRAVES

1973 GUIDE FOR PRESS, RADIO AND TELEVISION

The Atlanta Braves, from front office to clubhouse, are enthusiastic about the 1973 season. Hank Aaron, with 673 home runs already accumulated during his fantastic career, continues his assault on Babe Ruth's legendary Major League record of 714. Off-season trades, which have brought several new pitchers, an infielder and a catcher to Atlanta, mark the Braves as one of the most improved teams in baseball. And manager Eddie Mathews promises the fans hustle and determination out of each and every Brave. The Braves mean business in 1973.

The Braves in the World Series

1914 — Boston 4 games, Philadelphia 0

Manager George Stallings' "Miracle Braves," who climbed out of the cellar in July to win the pennant, swept Connie Mack's great Philadelphia Athletics in four games. The Braves were built around the pitching trio of Dick Rudolph, Bill James and George Tyler and the second base combination of Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville. Catcher Hank Gowdy, who batted .243 for the season, had a .545 average for the series, with a homer, triple, three doubles and a single.

1948 — Cleveland 4 games, Boston 2

The Braves under Billy Southworth won their first National League pennant in 34 years, but lost the series to Lou Boudreau and the Indians. Gene Bearden, Navy veteran of World War II, was Cleveland's pitching hero. Bob Feller allowed Boston only two hits in the opening game but lost it to Johnny Sain, 1-0. Boston's only other victory was in the fifth game, 11-5, as Bob Elliott smashed successive homers off Feller.

1957 — Milwaukee 4 games, New York 3

Sensational Lou Burdette had three victories and pitched 24 consecutive scoreless innings to defeat a New York team that was making its eighth Series appearance in nine years under the leadership of Casey Stengel. Warren Spahn was the winning pitcher in Milwaukee's other victory. Eddie Mathews' tenth-inning homer won the fourth game after the famous Nippy Jones shoe polish incident. Burdette started the seventh and final game after Spahn was felled by the flu, and with only two days rest, pitched a 5-0 shutout.

1958 — New York 4 games, Milwaukee 3

The Yankees, gaining revenge for their defeat the previous year, carried the Series to seven games and then won one of their greatest triumphs in Series play. They became only the second team in history to come from a three-games-to-one deficit and win the classic. Hank Bauer led the Yanks with ten hits and eight runs batted in, while pitcher Bob Turley won the fifth game, saved the sixth and won the seventh. Warren Spahn won two and Lou Burdette one for the Braves.

The Braves in the Championship Series

1969 — New York Mets 3 games, Atlanta 0

Atlanta became the first Western Division champion by winning .769 per cent of its games in September, finishing the year with a 93-69 record. New York then swept the three-game Championship Series from the Braves. The Mets scored five runs in the eighth inning to take the first game in Atlanta, 9-5. The following day, six Atlanta pitchers failed to stop the Mets as New York won 11-6. Then in the final game on Oct. 6 at Shea Stadium, Wayne Garrett's two-run homer in the fifth finished the Braves' hopes, with the final score, 7-4.

SPECIAL BASEBALL REGULATIONS

FREE AGENT DRAFT RULE — A BRIEF SUMMARY — Major League and National Association clubs participate in two meetings a year for the purpose of drafting free agent player talent. Selection of a free agent entitles the club to the exclusive right of negotiation with that player for a specified period (from date of selection until 15 days prior to next draft meeting).

Draft meetings are held in summer (June) and winter (January). There are two phases to each draft meeting:

Regular Phase — Selection of free agents in inverse order of Major League standings. Limitations on number of selections by each organization at each level: Major League (1), "AAA" (1), "AA" (1), "A" (unlimited). Minor league clubs select in the same relative order as their parent clubs.

Secondary Phase — Selection of free agents who had been drafted at a previous meeting, but who were not subsequently signed before the negotiation right expired. It is possible for a club to redraft a player whom it had been unable to sign after the original selection, but only with express written consent of that player. Order of selection in the secondary phase is determined by lot.

TRADING REGULATIONS — Players are available on waivers in reverse order of standings, at the time waivers expire, if more than 30 days after start of the season; otherwise in reverse order of standings at close of preceding season. The standard waiver price is $20,000.

Inter-League Trades — Midnight, five days after the World Series to Midnight, Nov. 30—No waivers are necessary. Midnight, Nov. 30 to Midnight, June 15—Waivers necessary in assignor's league. Midnight, June 15 to Midnight, the last day of the season—Major League waivers necessary. Midnight, the last day of the season to Midnight, five days after the World Series—Waivers necessary in assignor's league.

Trading Within League — Midnight, the last day of the season to Midnight, June 15—No waivers necessary. Midnight, June 15 to Midnight, the last day of the season—League waivers necessary.

PLAYER LIMITS—40 until opening day, when the number must be reduced to 25 until September 1, when it again becomes 40.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR BATTING CHAMPIONSHIP—Highest batting average and 502 or more plate appearances.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR PITCHING CHAMPIONSHIP—Lowest ERA and 162 or more innings pitched.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A SAVE—Credit a save to a relief pitcher who enters the game with his team in the lead if he holds the lead the remainder of the game, provided he is not credited with the victory. A relief pitcher cannot be credited with a save if he does not finish the game, unless he is removed for a pinch-hitter or runner. When more than one relief pitcher qualifies for a save under the provisions of this rule, credit the save to the relief pitcher judged by the scorer to have been the most effective. Only one save can be credited in any game.

DETERMINING THE MAGIC NUMBER—Determine the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the lost column of the standings from the closest opponent.

SUMMER FREE AGENT DRAFT will be held on June 5 and 6 this year.

BASEBALL WRITERS' ROOKIE RULE

A player shall be considered a rookie unless, during a previous season or seasons, he has (a) exceeded 130 at bats or 50 innings pitched in the major leagues; or (b) accumulated more than 45 days on the active roster of a major league club or clubs during the period of the 25-player limit (excluding time in military service).

Hank Aaron

OF-1B

No. 44

Henry Louis Aaron. Born Feb. 5, 1934 at Mobile, Ala. Bats and throws right. 6-0, 189. Graduated from Josephine Allen Institute, Mobile, Ala., 1951. Has four children: Gail, born Nov. 5, 1953; Hank, Jr., Mar. 10, 1957; Larry, Dec. 15, 1957; Dorinda, Feb. 5, 1962. Lives in Atlanta. Acquired-Signed by Boston Braves Scout Dewey Griggs after Braves purchased his contract for $10,000 from Indianapolis Clowns of Negro American League, June 14, 1952.

Hank enters the 1973 season as the holder of eight National League batting records—seven of them Major League records also—and tied for three other records . . . He also finds himself rapidly approaching the most incredible record of all—Babe Ruth's career home run mark of 714 . . . Hank now holds the Major League records for most total bases (6,172), most seasons with 30 or more home runs (14), most seasons with 20 or more home runs (18 consecutive), most sacrifice flies (107) and most intentional walks (270) . . . Hank's 673 home run total going into 1973 replaced the 646 National League high that belonged to Willie Mays last year . . . Last season he tied Mays at 648 on May 31 against the Padres and passed him on June 10 in Philadelphia . . . The homer that passed Mays was also the 14th grand slam of Hank's career, tying him for first all-time in the National League with Willie McCovey and the late Gil Hodges . . . He tied Babe Ruth for most homers with one club on July 19, 1972, in Pittsburgh when he hit the 659th of his career. He then broke the record on August 6th in Cincinnati.

Hank has been selected to play for the National League in the All-Star Game 15 consecutive times, and he was named to a starting position in the game in 1957, 1958, 1959 (both games), 1960 (both games), 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970, 1971 and 1972 . . . He was the top vote-getter in the All-Star balloting by fans in both 1970 and 1971 . . . Although he had never hit a home run in All-Star competition two years ago, he has hit a single homer in both of the last two All-Star Games, and he was given a standing ovation when he hit the All-Star homer last summer in Atlanta.

Aaron was signed by Boston Braves Scout Dewey Griggs after the Braves purchased his contract for $10,000 from the Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American League in 1952. He was signed for the Clowns on November 20, 1951, by Scout Ed Scott.

Hank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Aaron of Mobile, and he has three brothers and three sisters. In accomplishing his hitting feats, Aaron has surprisingly struck out only 1,214 times. In comparison, four active Major Leaguers have more career strikeouts — Harmon Killebrew, Willie Mays, Frank Howard and Frank Robinson.

Hank became the first player to ever have both 3000 career base hits and over 500 home runs on May 17, 1970, when he collected his 3000th career hit against Wayne Simpson of the Reds in Cincinnati . . . He was voted Most Valuable Player in the South Atlantic League in 1953 and the Most Outstanding Rookie in the Northern League the year before . . . Baseball writers named him the Braves' Most Valuable Player in 1954, 1955, 1957, 1959, 1967 and 1971 . . . He was named Most Valuable Player in the National League by the BBWAA in 1957 and was named National League Player of the Year by The Sporting News in 1956 and 1963 . . . Hank is one of only five players who have ever hit over 30 home runs and have stolen over 30 bases in one season (1963).

Hank became a Milwaukee Braves regular in the outfield during spring training of 1954 when Bobby Thomson fractured an ankle on March 13. Aaron later suffered a broken ankle himself on September 5, 1954, and missed the remainder of his rookie season . . . Hank received the Gold Glove as the National League's top fielding right fielder in 1958, 1959 and 1960 . . . He and Eddie Mathews set the Major League record for most homers by teammates with 863 (442 by Aaron and 421 by Mathews) in 1954-66, breaking the record of 793 by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig . . . Aaron was the recipient of the Lou Gehrig Award in 1970, signifying the Major Leaguer that best exemplifies the character and courage of Gehrig . . . On June 8, 1961, Mathews, Aaron, Joe Adcock and Frank Thomas set a Major League record for most consecutive homers by teammates in the seventh inning at Cincinnati . . . Aaron and Earl Williams are the only two Braves who have hit homers into the upper deck at Atlanta Stadium. Aaron did it on Opening Night in Atlanta Stadium for 1970 against Frank Reberger of the Giants . . . Hank hit three homers in a game on June 21, 1959 . . . He's had five hits in a game three times and four hits in a game 45 times . . . Hank's had batting streaks of 15 or more games ten times — 25 games in 1956 and 1962, 22 in 1959 and 1971, 19 in 1960, 18 in 1967, 16 in 1964 and 1965, and 15 in 1957 (twice) and 1958.

Atlanta fans honored Hank with "Hank Aaron Night" on August 23, 1968, and for his 3,000th hit jointly with Hoyt Wilhelm on May 26, 1970 . . . Hank was hitting .467 for the Indianapolis Clowns when owner Syd Pollock offered his contract to the Boston Braves in a letter to Farm Director John Mullen . . . Hank's Major League pinch-hitting record is nine for 42 (.214) with one pinch-hit homer on July 8, 1962.

Only eight pitchers in the American League pitched more innings than Dobson in 1972 . . . His 18 losses last season tied with Mel Stottlemyre for the American League lead . . . He led the Orioles starters in 1971 in strikeouts and finished second on the team in 1972 in that category . . . He, of course, joined Mike Cuellar, Dave McNally and Jim Palmer to give the Orioles four 20-game winners in 1971 . . . He started his spectacular 1971 season with only a 3-4 record in 13 starts through June 12. He then put together 12 straight victories before losing to the Yankees on August 6 . . . He also hurled nine straight complete games at one point during 1971 and was 17-4 in his last 21 decisions . . . He won his last three starts of the year to join the 20-game circle.

Pat started the first night World Series game in history in 1971 against the Pirates. He pitched five and one-third innings but was not the pitcher of record . . . He pitched a no-hitter vs. Tokyo Giants during the Orioles' visit to Japan after the 1971 season, the first no-hitter ever pitched against a Japanese club by a touring U.S. pitcher.

He originally signed a big bonus contract with Detroit in 1960, and he spent seven years in the minors before breaking in with the Major League Tigers in May, 1967 . . . He won five and saved five for the World Championship Tiger team in 1968, and he also pitched in three of the World Series games that year.

The Tigers traded Pat to San Diego for pitcher Joe Niekro and infielder Dave Campbell on December 4, 1969 . . . The Orioles obtained him and pitcher Tom Dukes from the Padres for pitchers Fred Beene, Tom Phoebus, Al Severinsen and infielder Enzo Hernandez on December 1, 1970.

He set the Atlanta record for most stolen bases in a season in 1971 in his first full season with the Braves... He became a regular in 1971 in left field for the Braves, replacing Rico Carty, who was lost for the season with a leg injury... Ralph broke the Dominican League record for hitting with a .457 average in the 1970-71 winter season, breaking the old mark by 67 points... Garr's speed resulted in Warner Brothers, Inc., giving him exclusive rights among athletes to use the copyrighted nickname "Road Runner"... Although he was not selected to play in the Major League All-Star Game in 1971, Ralph led all write-in candidates in the balloting for a National League position... Ralph's colorful and descriptive language has made him a favorite of baseball fans throughout the country... He led the league in sacrifice bunts in 1971 with 18... He was named to the National Association AAA All-East team in 1969 and to a starting position on the International League All-Star Team in 1970... He finished second to Seaver on the Mets' staff in victories two years ago, despite two injuries that sidelined him during the season... He has pitched two big league one-hitters. The first was on May 13, 1970, against the Cubs at Wrigley Field and was spoiled only by a single with two outs in the eighth by Ernie Banks... The second one-hitter was on April 18, 1971, against the Pirates, and he allowed only a sixth-inning triple to Roberto Clemente.

He had the distinction of winning the Eastern Division clinching game for the 1969 "Miracle" Mets... He also pitched the third game of the World Series that year and was credited with victory while giving up only three hits and no runs in six and two-thirds innings.

Gentry was the Mets' third choice in the secondary phase of the June, 1967 free agent draft, and he was signed by Dee Fondy on June 13, 1969... He had been drafted previously by the Orioles, Astros and Giants... In his final season for Arizona State, he had a 17-1 record, winning the last 16 in a row and striking out 229 in 174 innings... His team won the College World Series with Gary taking two of the tournament games... Gary also won fame as a Phoenix High School player at baseball, football and basketball. He played second base in high school.

THE INCOMPARABLE SPAHN

Who was the greatest pitcher of all time? Braves fans can make a case for Warren Spahn. He led the National League in complete games nine times and in victories eight times, won 20 games 13 times, and had 100 or more strikeouts for 17 straight years. Spahn won 363 games (356 for the Braves), an all-time high for left-handers.

TRIPLE PLAY

The Braves' only triple play at Atlanta Stadium occurred Aug. 29, 1969, against Chicago. Don Kessinger and Glenn Beckert led off the game with singles against Pat Jarvis, but Billy Williams grounded to Orlando Cepeda at first, and then Kessinger was chased down between third base and home plate and Beckert between second and third.

WILLIAM C. BARTHOLOMAY

William C. Bartholomay, 44, serves as chairman and chief executive officer of the Atlanta Braves.

The Illinois native has been involved with the Braves since 1962 when he became a member of a group that purchased the majority of stock in the baseball team. Before that Bartholomay had been part of a group that controlled a large interest in the Chicago White Sox.

Although best known in sports for his role with the Braves, Bartholomay wears many other hats in the business world. He is president of Frank B. Hall & Co., one of the largest insurance brokerage firms in the world, and is on the board of directors of Atlanta/LaSalle Corporation, Parker & Co. of Georgia, and Byrnes-McCaffrey, Inc.

Bartholomay and his wife Gail have six children: Virginia, William, Jamie, Betsy, Karen and Sally.

DANIEL J. DONAHUE

Daniel J. Donahue, president of the Atlanta Braves, is a 49-year-old native of Boston, Mass., and has followed the Braves closely since he saw his first game 41 years ago in Boston.

He is a graduate of Dartmouth College and Boston University Law School, and has served as president of Atlanta/LaSalle Corporation, the parent company of the Braves, for the past ten years.

He also serves as a director of several companies, including Combined Communications; Gould, Inc.; Bel-scott Retailers; and the Braves.

Donahue and his wife Patricia live in Atlanta and have one son, Peter, 23, and two daughters, Paula, 20, and Dorian, 17.

EDDIE ROBINSON

Eddie Robinson, the Braves' vice president of baseball operations, proved himself as a player in 13 major league seasons and is now showing his front office talent by organizing the Braves' player personnel.

Robinson was born in Paris, Texas, Dec. 16, 1920, and graduated from Paris Junior College in 1940 with a degree in accounting. He started his playing career with Valdosta in the Georgia-Florida League in 1939 and reached the major leagues three years later with the Indians.

Robinson was the All-Star first baseman in 1949 as a Senator and in 1951 and 1952 with the White Sox. He appeared in the 1953 All-Star game as a pinch hitter while playing for the Athletics that year. He played in two World Series with the Cleveland Indians in 1948 and the New York Yankees in 1955.

After retiring as a player following the 1957 season, Robinson joined the Baltimore Orioles as coach and then moved into the front office as field director with the Orioles next season. Since then he has served as assistant to general manager Paul Richards at Houston 1961-1962, farm director for the Astros 1963-1965 and farm director of the Kansas City Athletics 1966-1967. He joined the Braves as minor league administrator following the 1967 season, and was named vice president of baseball operations in January, 1973.

He and his wife, Bette, live in Decatur, Ga., with their three children, Marc, Paul and Drew.

DICK CECIL

Dick Cecil, 38, is a vice president of the Atlanta Braves. As such he works in all areas of the company's "off-the-field" operations.

A Nebraska native, Cecil began his Braves career as a scout in 1956. He later was assistant scouting director, assistant farm director and business manager. He was the first member of the Braves front office to move from Milwaukee to Atlanta and worked closely with the Stadium Authority in planning Atlanta Stadium.

After having been Chairman William C. Bartholomay's top assistant for a couple of years, Cecil was elected a Braves vice president in 1968. One of his primary responsibilities is Braves Productions, Inc., which has brought such diverse entertainment as jazz festivals, the Bolshoi Ballet and Barbra Streisand to Atlanta.

Dick and his wife Shirley have six children: Kip, Terry, David, Valerie, Kelly and Vicki.

DON DAVIDSON

Don Davidson, just four feet tall, is easily the biggest small man in the major leagues. He is the Atlanta Braves' assistant to the chairman as well as traveling secretary.

Davidson has been with the Braves longer than any other employee. Born May 27, 1925, in Boston, Davidson joined the organization fulltime in 1948 after having started as a clubhouse boy when he was nine. He served as public relations director before assuming his present duties which include travel arrangements, scheduling and a thousand other details.

Don is married to the former Patricia Garin and they have three children, Patricia, Margot and Deehan.

BILL LUCAS

Bill Lucas, Atlanta's minor league administrator, oversees the Braves' vast farm system. The 37-year-old Floridian was graduated from Florida A & M University, where he earned selection to the NAIA All-America baseball team.

Lucas played baseball on the AAA level in the Braves organization and then served as the Atlanta Crackers' public relations director in 1965 and as a P. R. assistant for the Braves the next year. Lucas was named assistant farm director of the Braves in 1967 and moved into his present position in May of 1972.

Lucas lives in Atlanta with his wife Ruby and their three children, William, Jr., Wonya and Andrea.
